Vote from the safety of home!

A mail ballot guide for Rhode Island voters

Nellie M. Gorbea
Secretary of State
Dear Rhode Island Voter,

As your Secretary of State, it is my responsibility to make sure you are able to exercise your right to vote safely and securely. The social distancing practices that help us prevent the spread of COVID-19 have forced us to change many aspects of our lives but we can still be united in casting our votes, especially in this Special Election.

That’s why I encourage all Rhode Island voters to apply for a mail ballot and vote safely from home. Voting from home with a mail ballot makes it possible for you to vote without having to go to a polling place in person.

I understand that voting from home will be new for many Rhode Islanders. This guide is meant to answer common questions you may have about the process.

Rhode Islanders are resilient and resourceful. During these challenging times, we can help keep each other safe and show the nation that we will safeguard our democracy through our vote. Stay strong and be a voter!

Sincerely,

Nellie M. Gorbea
Secretary of State

Track your ballot vote.ri.gov
What if I need a Spanish mail ballot application?
Registered voters in Central Falls, Pawtucket, Providence, and Woonsocket will receive English and Spanish mail ballot applications per Voting Rights Act guidelines. Spanish applications are also available online at vote.ri.gov.

How do I check my voter information?
Go to vote.ri.gov! This website is Rhode Island’s one-stop shop for elections information. Use it to register to vote online, change your party affiliation, access elections information, and more.

If you know someone who wants to check their information without internet access, have them call (401) 222-2340.

I recently moved but didn’t update my voter registration. Can I still vote by mail?
You should go to vote.ri.gov to check your voter registration information. If your address is not accurate, you may update your voter information online. You should also contact your local board of canvassers to see if you are eligible to apply for a mail ballot from your new address for the next election.

How do I request a mail ballot so I can vote from home?
Mail ballot applications are available two ways. You can download an application at vote.ri.gov and print it out or, if you don’t have access to a printer, you can request a printed application from your local board of canvassers, located in your city/town hall.

When applying for a mail ballot, can we put multiple applications into one return envelope?
Each voter applying for a mail ballot must fill out their own application. You may mail back multiple applications in one envelope. You must fill out an application for each election you plan to vote with a mail ballot.

What happens if I make a mistake filling out my mail ballot application?
You can print another application from vote.ri.gov or call your local board of canvassers to have one mailed to you.

What happens after I send back my mail ballot application?
Your application will be verified by your local board of canvassers by comparing your signature on the application with the signature on file from your voter registration record. Once verified, a mail ballot will be sent to the address in Box A (unless you filled out a different mailing address in Box B).

The infographic on page 4 is a helpful tool that outlines the vote-by-mail process in Rhode Island!

When will I receive my mail ballot?
Go to vote.ri.gov to track the status of your mail ballot. If you have questions regarding the status of your application or mail ballot, please contact your local board of canvassers.

I received my mail ballot, now what?
Your mail ballot will arrive with detailed instructions for filling it out and returning. It is important to follow each step carefully to ensure your vote will be counted.

When do I need to return my mail ballot?
All mail ballots must be received by the State Board of Elections by 8 p.m. on Election Day. We encourage voters to allow at least seven mailing days to ensure their ballot is received on time.

If you are concerned your ballot won’t make it in time using the US Postal Service, you may drop your completed mail ballot in the sealed envelopes in any of the secure 24-hour drop boxes located around the state by 8 p.m. on election day.

Should I let someone else deliver my mail ballot to the Board of Elections?
Every mail ballot includes a postage paid return envelope so voters can easily return their mail ballot for free. If you don’t want to mail your ballot, you can hand-deliver it to the Board of Elections, drop it in a secure 24-hour drop box, or you can give it to someone you trust to return for you.

Never rely on a stranger to return your mail ballot.
Frequently Asked Questions

Won’t you know who I vote for if I vote by mail?
How is my vote kept private?
Your mail ballot must be inserted into a “Mail Ballot Certificate” envelope and then in the postage paid return envelope. Elections officials will open the postage paid return envelope and the signature on your “Mail Ballot Certificate” envelope will be matched to the signature on your mail ballot application.

Once that signature has been verified, your ballot will be removed from the certificate envelope and immediately inserted into a voting machine. This ensures your vote is kept private.

What happens if I make a mistake filling it out, or if my ballot is damaged?
Call our Elections Division at (401) 222-2340 or email elections@sos.ri.gov to request a new one.

I mailed back my ballot. How can I check that it was received?
You can track your mail ballot at vote.ri.gov.

What should I do if I want to vote by mail but the mail ballot process is difficult for me due to my disability?
Contact our Elections Division at (401) 222-2340 or Disability Rights Rhode Island at (401) 831-3150 for assistance.

I applied for a mail ballot but have changed my mind and would like to vote at a polling place. Am I allowed to do so?
If you applied for a mail ballot, you should complete the process by mail. Any voter who applies for a mail ballot and attempts to vote in person will be required to vote a provisional ballot. The provisional ballot will be returned to the local board of canvassers where election officials will determine if you have already cast a mail ballot or if the provisional ballot should be counted.

Voting more than once is a felony.

If someone loses their ballot and gets another one, how will you know they didn’t vote twice?
Our office notifies the Board of Elections that a second ballot is being mailed. We also mark the envelope so the Board of Elections can track the ballot. There is a barcode on each envelope that is scanned when the ballot is returned. If someone votes twice, it will be detected and prevented when the Board of Elections scans the ballot envelope.

Similarly, it will be detected and prevented if someone votes by mail and tries to vote again at a polling place.

How do you ensure that someone doesn’t vote using someone else’s ballot?
Signatures are compared in two steps of the vote-by-mail process. The signature on your mail ballot application will be compared to the signature on file at your local board of canvassers. When you return your voted ballot, the signature on your ballot envelope will be matched to the signature on your mail ballot application.

It is a felony to fill out a mail ballot application or a mail ballot fraudulently.

What if I don’t want to vote by mail, but I can’t vote on Election Day either?
Rhode Island voters now have the option to vote early in person at their local city or town hall during business hours in the 20 days leading up to Election Day.

Early in person voting is very similar to voting at a polling place. You will check in by scanning your photo ID into an electronic poll book. You will receive a ballot, fill out your ballot, and insert your completed ballot into a voting machine.

What if I don’t want to vote in person, but I missed the mail ballot application deadline?
If you are unable to vote in person, you may still request an emergency mail ballot from your local board of canvassers.

I have difficulty reading/marking my ballot. Can I still vote from home?
Yes. You can request an accessible mail ballot. An accessible ballot is an electronic ballot made available to voters that indicate this choice on their mail ballot application. A voter can view their mail ballot via their online voter record at vote.ri.gov and mark their ballot online using accessibility tools provided in the software. The voter prints their ballot and returns the marked ballot in the envelopes provided as part of the mail ballot package the voter received in the mail.
